

SCALING UP! H2O DELIVERS A MUST-LISTEN EPISODE WITH RENOWNED LEGIONELLOLOGIST DR. JANET E. STOUT

Scaling UP! H2O, the leading podcast in the water treatment industry, is excited to announce the release of a highly anticipated episode featuring the brilliant Dr. Janet E. Stout, renowned Legionellologist from Special Pathogens Laboratory. The episode is scheduled for release on Friday, August 11, 2023, coinciding with Legionella Awareness Month.

Dr. Janet E. Stout, a respected authority in Legionella prevention and water treatment, has been a guest on Scaling UP! H2O multiple times, and each time, she leaves listeners captivated with her wealth of knowledge and invaluable insights. The upcoming episode promises to be no different, as Dr. Stout dives deep into crucial topics, sharing cutting-edge updates and practical advice.

In this exclusive interview, Dr. Stout will discuss the latest developments in ASHRAE 188 training and recertification processes, as well as the significance of the ASSE/IAPMO/ANSI 12080 Standard for Legionella Water Safety and Management Personnel. Listeners will also learn about her groundbreaking "Legionella Chill Pills" - a remedy for Legionella Related Anxiety, and how testing is essential for safeguarding water systems.

"As a legionellologist, I'm always asking myself, 'How can we best protect people?'" says Dr. Stout, emphasizing the importance of education and proactivity in water treatment.

The episode also delves into the rise of Legionella legislation in various states, with Dr. Stout sharing valuable insights on how these laws impact water treatment professionals and facility managers. As a passionate advocate for prevention, she challenges listeners to be proactive and implement effective water management plans to combat Legionella risks.

Scaling UP! H2O host, Trace Blackmore, expresses excitement about the upcoming episode, saying, "Dr. Stout's passion and dedication to ending Legionella is truly inspiring. We're honored to have her back on the show, and I'm confident that our listeners will find immense value in her expertise."
